

ADDRESS NOTE TO THE PARTICIPANTS

Please all information about the Asynchronous 3- Weeks Program of KEDIVIM of the University of Crete below.

- You can access all necessary details concerning the Program at: <kedivim@uoc.gr>
- Participants can communicate with the trainers, Prof. Calogiannakis & Prof. Akin-Sabuncu, throughout the program via the following email: <humans.digital.kedivim@gmail.com>
Use this email for comments, questions and submissions of your e-laboratories: This asynchronous interaction between the trainers and participants will ensure necessary feedback. The trainers will gather and unified all the e-laboratories and send them back to the participants for feedback. Also questions and comments will be answered via this email. At the end of the Program a two -hours synchronous communication will take place (the participants will receive the details at the end)
- 3-4 units/ppts and the accompanying e- laboratories will be uploaded every week
- The Program will start on August 26 (1st week) and will end on September 15 (3rd week).
- At the end , the participants will receive the Certificate from the University of Crete (1,8 ECTS/ECVTS)

Some more information about the trainers:

Prof. Pella Calogiannakis -Scientific Responsible

Dr. Pella Calogiannakis is Professor of Comparative Education at University of Crete, Greece. She has studied in Paris-V, Rene-Descartes, Sorbonne in France. Her research interests include Comparative Education and Political Socialization Processes, citizenship education and human-citizen. She is also a DVP of Zhengzhou University, in China. She is the author of ten books and editor of 12 handbooks; published over 90 articles in Greek, English, French, Chinese, Japanese, Russian, Arab, Turkish and African languages. She has participated in international congresses (in Europe, U.S.A. Asia and Africa). She coordinates the European Program 'Integration of Roma children in schools' and she is the Director of Post-Graduate Program 'Sciences of Education, Critical Pedagogy and Teachers Education' of the University of Crete. She is also passionate about design, creative writing, and human honesty.

Prof. Sibel Akiin-Sabuncu- Academic Responsible

Dr. Sibel Akin-Sabuncu, Ass. Professor of Curriculum and Instruction in the Faculty of Education at TED University in Türkiye, obtained her Ph.D. in Curriculum and Instruction at Middle East Technical University in Türkiye and her post-doc degree at Teachers College, Columbia University, at the United States of America. She was a visiting scholar at Teachers College, Columbia University (2014-2015 & 2021-2023), U.S.A. and worked with Prof. Dr. A. Lin Goodwin in "Teaching Residents at Teachers College research projects and at the Office of Accreditation and Assessment as the coordinator the conduct of "Teachers College, Columbia University Self-Study Project". Her research interests include teacher education, immigrant & refugee education, educational equity, social justice, culturally relevant pedagogy. She has presented research studies at leading international conferences and journals. She is also a lover of jazz and blues music & plays the saxophone.

Contact person: Dina Pirgiotaki npirgio@gmail.com
Secretary of KEDIVIM of the University of Crete,
BA., MA., PhD Candidate